Dear Dr. DeBease,

This letter is written first to thank you for being the guest speaker at our December safety meeting and, secondly to commend you for an excellent program.

Your presentation was very informative. The employees have a much better understanding of ways to increase their energy levels at work and home, and therefore; become more productive. Your presentations in the past on work-related stress and the ways to address and eliminate the causes have also enhanced our employees' work habits.

I would recommend your presentation to any company that provides services that have a potential work-related stress environment and want to increase energy levels.

Again, thank you.

Sincerely,

Jesse W. Killings, Manager
Newnan-Griffin Service Area
